San Antonio, TX – (May 24, 2022) Pape-Dawson Engineers, Inc. has promoted Matt Geistweidt, P.E. to Associate Vice President.

Mr. Geistweidt has 13 years of experience in residential and commercial land development with projects varying from large-scale master-planned communities, single-family subdivisions, and multi-family communities to road projects, large industrial facilities, schools, hotels, retail centers, and other commercial developments. He has also been responsible for the pre-acquisition, design, permitting, construction administration, and management of many multi-disciplinary projects from initiation to closeout. His most recent accomplishment was the completion of the last phase of the 3,000-acre Alamo Ranch development.

Mr. Geistweidt makes continuous efforts to find efficiency by leveraging available tools, which is a benefit to both clients and the company. His ability to spot challenges and develop plans that facilitate the successful and smooth delivery of projects is a great asset to the land development team.

Mr. Geistweidt holds a B.S. in Civil Engineering and an M.E. in Civil Engineering from Texas A&M University.
