Pape-Dawson Acquires Florida-based Bonnett Design Group

Pape-Dawson continues to expand presence in Florida

Orlando, FL (September 3, 2025) – Pape-Dawson has acquired Bonnett Design Group, a respected Maitland-based firm specializing in landscape architecture and planning. This acquisition marks Pape-Dawson’s fourth in Florida, further strengthening its capabilities and enhancing the comprehensive services available to clients across Florida.

An established leading provider of civil engineering, surveying, and related professional services, Pape-Dawson has strategically expanded its presence in Florida through acquiring Poulos & Bennett (2023), GradyMinor (2024), and Morris Engineering (2025). Bonnett Design Group (BDG) brings specialized expertise in landscape architecture and planning, allowing the firm’s Florida teams to offer an enhanced, one-stop approach to infrastructure and land development projects.

“The addition of BDG strengthens our commitment to providing our Florida clients with comprehensive, multidisciplinary services,” said Trey Dawson, President of Pape-Dawson. “Together, we will elevate the value we bring to our clients and deliver design solutions that merge Bonnett Design Group’s visionary community planning with engineering precision.”

“Joining Pape-Dawson marks an exciting new chapter for us,” said Todd W. Bonnett, Principal of Bonnett Design Group. “Our shared values, combined strengths, and expanded resources will empower us to deliver even more impactful, sustainable designs throughout the state.”

“We’re thrilled to welcome Todd and the talented team at BDG to the Pape-Dawson Florida family,” said Lance Bennett of Orlando-based Poulos & Bennett, a Pape-Dawson Company. “We look forward to collaborating and building an even stronger network of expertise for our clients and communities.”
